

Lufthansa Cargo

The business to business class.

Intern (m/f) for Logistics in Milan

Start: beginning of February 2007 or even earlier

Lufthansa Cargo AG is looking for a motivated and highly qualified student (m/f) to support our Handling activities in Italy and Malta. We are interested in a student (m/f) who is highly organized, can apply analytical knowledge, can assume responsibility and take initiative.

Your tasks

- Controlling and monitoring of all key performance indicators within Lufthansa Cargo for the region Italy and Malta with the focus on quality, punctuality, efficiency and costs
- Monitoring of the punctuality of the road feeder services for the entire Italian network to and from German hubs
- Implementation of controlling and monitoring tools for the production processes based on the new world-wide quality management system 'Cargo 2000' (C2K)
- Regular analysis of load factors and costs of Road Feeder Services
- Development of Excel-files for monitoring purposes based on queries from different databases (Traxon, Ready2Report, Obelisk, Unisys, Mosaik Reporting System, SAP R/3, etc.)
- Due diligence related to available potential of tonnages for the build-up of through unit load devices
- Revision and improvement of existing monitoring tools
- Coordination of the information exchange regarding controlling and monitoring issues between the headquarter in Frankfurt, Germany, and the single stations in Italy and Malta
- Assistance and support of the management team in Italy by preparing data and creating presentations for internal meetings
- Development of the new web pages for the region Italy and Malta inside the company's intranet

Your profile

- You are studying business administration or similar
- Logistics experience is a plus
- You already gained practical experience during other relevant internships or jobs
- You have very good skills applying and using MS applications, especially Excel, Word and Power Point
- You have a very good command of both, German and English
- You are committed and have the ability to work independently and creatively

Please send your applications only if you are available at least 3 months and are able to start beginning of February 2007 or even earlier. Currently the monthly remuneration is 550 EUR.

Contact

Nadia Fornasiero

Phone: 0039 0226991532

Mail: nadia.fornasiero@dlh.de