Internship (Presales) at Bosch Software Innovations in Singapore

We offer an internship position within the Presales department of Bosch Software Innovations in Singapore ideally starting from August 26th 2013 for the duration of six months.

Bosch Software Innovations is a leader in Business Rules Management Systems and offers software and systems solutions for the financial services industry, eMobility, as well as companies in various other industries. The core technology at the heart of our products is our inubit Suite with Visual Rules. It offers proven tools and platforms, designed for technical and business software applications and completely scalable to meet performance as well as agility needs.

Attending this internship will be an appealing and challenging experience that will provide you deep insights into the exciting interplay of business and IT. Furthermore you will be a full member of a dynamic, fast paced and multicultural team.

Your tasks will include:

- Learning and applying our Internet of Things and Services Suite (BPM, BRM, M2M)
- Developing Proof of Concepts and presenting them to our clients
- Supporting our Sales and Presales Team with research for Asian Pacific markets

Your profile:

- Advanced student in Information Systems, Information Management, Business/Industrial Engineering or other interdisciplinary courses
- Profound business knowledge combined with an affinity for IT-related topics
- Good Java programming skills, experience with Eclipse and Linux are required
- Being familiar with OSGi, REST, WSDL, XML, Maven, MongoDB, HTML and Javascript is beneficial
- Good analytical skills and being a quick learner
- Strong ability to work and think independently including actively analyzing and suggesting innovative ideas to solve problems
- Motivation to work in a multicultural environment
- Good English skills (speaking and writing)

If you are interested please email your application in English (application letter, CV, certificates as one PDF file) until July 1st 2013 to Christoph.Gross@bosch-si.com.
