

Imagine a tool that uncovers savings, increases revenue without raising taxes, and builds political goodwill. We make this a reality by helping government organizations open their books online.

For our Boston, Massachusetts location we are looking for an Intern – Software Developer (m/f)

Job Description:

- Work with the engineering team to develop, test, and improve one or more related software products
- Design and develop new features at direction of senior engineers
- Test software and report defects in an issue tracking system
- Create and run test cases for software products

Qualifications:

- Computer science or equivalent technical major
- Strong programming skills
- Knowledge of object-oriented development and design
- Experience with version control systems
- High-energy, motivated, capable learner, requires minimal supervision
- Qualification to work on web-based group purchasing and salon point-of-sale systems
- Proficient in PHP
- Familiar with web-application development, including HTML and CSS
- Familiar with MySQL
- Familiar with MVC web frameworks, preferably the Symfony framework
- Familiarity with the following is a plus
 - unit testing
 - XML/JSON/web-based APIs
 - JavaScript
 - jQuery or other JavaScript libraries
 - enterprise software development

What you can expect from us:

- Join an international work environment that is characterized by flexibility, informal atmosphere, and fast pace.
- In a team with qualified, performance-oriented colleagues expect interesting tasks from day one that will provide you with valuable expertise and professional project experience.
- You will be offered an attractive compensation.

Interested?

- Please contact Matthias Busch at +49 176 - 820 491 49 or submit your application to matthias.busch@openspend.com.

