Germans outsourced to India? Work for Hitiki!

Hitiki is an independent Online Travel Guide which will be launched in July. Hitiki is based on the Wikipedia engine and integrates user experiences, tips and knowledge. Hitiki is run from the offices of an Indian Internet and IT-Service company (e.g. http://www.oneindia.in, http://www.click.in) which has around 100 employees.

During your work at Hitiki you will enhance the Travel Guide and its features as part of a young and open-minded international team. Hitiki offers you the opportunity to create your own projects and to realise them independently. You will gain a comprehensive insight into the essential stages of building a website. And can experience how the Indian Silicon Valley Bangalore works!

You are student in the field of Computer Science. You should be familiar with the latest Internet technologies and preferably have gained some experience in building web pages or you even worked on web projects.

Apart from a dedicated and independent workflow we expect good skills in

- HTML + CSS + PHP + MySQL
- Database Design and SQL
- English

Preferably experiences in

- CVS
- XHTML + CSS2

Please send your detailed English CV with a photo and a cover letter to:
Anna Heintze, E-mail: work@hitiki.com
Company name: Hitiki
Branch: Internet, online travel guide
Location: Bangalore, South India
Duration: 6- 12 months